

CABINET IDEAS FOR OFFICE

Each and every furniture item in your workplace is important and serves a definite purpose. Cabinets are one of the most significant furniture items needed for storage in the offices. So, it becomes important to choose a cabinetry that not only fulfills your needs, but also complements the office decor.

VERTICAL CABINETS

1

These are the most common types of office cabinets. They utilize less space and have around three to four drawers. Vertical cabinets are spacious and can be used to store various documents. One of the added advantage is that they can easily be moved from one place to other.

LATERAL CABINETS

2

This type of cabinetry is generally installed adjacent to one other. They are usually wide and small as compared to vertical cabinets. Lateral cabinets can be installed under a and can be utilized as a desk in the office.

OPEN SHELVING

3

Helps to keep the documents and files in a more organized manner. They can be embedded in the walls above the desks. Open shelves are much more accessible to for the staff. They do not consume much of the space and make the office appear systematized.

CUSTOMIZED CABINETRY

4

Recent trends in furniture ideas have led to the evolution of custom designs, which provide more utility and less use of space. In the office, some cabinets can be installed under the desk so that everything an employee needs is just by his side. This also promotes more privacy and security of the documents.
